

Memory allocator

Noha Wong, Trung Vuong

October 10, 2016

Part I

Structure

For the implementation we have used a linked list of free blocks. Each block (allocated or free) has a meta data composed of :

- one pointer to the next free block
- one pointer to the previous free block
- one value representing the size of your free block

one pointer to the next free block